Portobello Community Inc. Update

CHAIR'S MESSAGE

Tēnā koutou,

I hope you are all staying warm through the winter weather. It's my pleasure to greet you as the new chair of Portobello Community Inc.

Stacey Kokaua, who has led us for the past two years, decided to step down to concentrate on her lengthy list of other community commitments, including her role on the Otago Peninsula Community Board. Please join me on behalf of our membership in thanking Stacey for her excellent stewardship of the group, and we're grateful that she has decided to remain on the committee.

We formalised the switch in leadership at our recent Annual General Meeting, where we were delighted to see a few new faces. Amy McFadzien continues on as our stalwart treasurer this year, and we are joined by my co-newsletter-editor Laura Shepard, who has graciously stepped up into the role of secretary. Thank you to all who attended, and we look forward to working with you.

This has been a successful and busy year for Portobello Community Inc., with two standout highlights including the completion of the Pump Track at Portobello Domain and establishing ourselves as a registered charity. While we have "soft-launched" the Pump Track over the winter to let the plantings that surround it get established, it has already become a popular destination for kids (and a fair few adults). Thanks to all who donated plants, gifts, fixtures, tools, and above all their time to make this beautiful community amenity a reality. I would also once again like to specifically thank Dan Parker and Kitty Brown, who tirelessly pushed this project from idea to reality.

With that big project done, we've taken a bit of a breather over the winter and will return to our events and community projects in earnest, and we will continue our efforts to grow our membership. Planning is underway for a Spring Market Day (sign up to our mailing list for news!) and we welcome ideas for future fundraising events so that we can continue with our mission of ensuring that Portobello remains a great place to live.

Kā mihi,

— Michael Lascarides

Portobello Volunteer Fire Brigade

Well, we're well and truly in winter. Even though outside everything is wet and the fire danger is reduced, we still need to be vigilant around fire safety.

"Cool ash before you stash"

Our log burners will be getting used regularly now the temperatures have dropped. You need to be careful when disposing of your ashes. Hot ashes can remain hot for five days and can spark a new fire. Always store ashes in a metal bucket and soak them with water before putting them in a wheelie bin.

"A metre from the heater"

We should all know the metre-heater rule by now, but it doesn't hurt to remind everyone. Fire and Emergency are still attending house fires caused by items left too close to a heat source.

"A clean dryer avoids a fire"

A poorly maintained clothes dryer can also cause a house fire. It is important to clean the lint filter every time the dryer is used. As most dryers draw a lot of current, do not plug them into a multi box, plug them directly into the wall socket.

"Check the heat before you sleep"

A faulty electric blanket is a fire waiting to happen. If you feel unusually hot patches in your electric blanket, replace it now. It is recommended that you get your blanket checked annually and replace it if it is more than five years old. When storing an electric blanket, roll it up and never fold it.

Fire Season

The Otago Peninsula is still in an Open fire season, which means a permit is not required for outdoor fires, but you still need to do this safely.

If you are unsure, please go to the website WWW.checkitsalright.nz

Quiz night

I can now confirm that the Portobello Fire Brigade Quiz Night is going to be held on September 23rd. Keep this date free if you're interested in coming along.

If anyone would like to donate any prizes, please contact Kellie 027 726 6212.

Smoke Alarms

We have had a good response from our community around smoke alarms. We have carried out numerous home fire safety visits and fitted new smoke alarms where required.

Fire and Emergency recommends long life photoelectric smoke alarms.

If you are unsure, want some advice or would like a free home fire safety visit please give either Greg or myself a call.

Portobello Police Station

Tēnā koutou everyone

Things have been relatively quiet in and around the peninsula of late on the crime front which is pleasing. This doesn't mean we should become complacent around the everyday things we can do to keep us and our things safe. The simple things like locking vehicles, getting neighbours to watch over your place if you are away for a while, putting away easily accessible property that may be to the liking of the bad people and generally not giving anyone the opportunity to ruin your day.

To all of our firearms licence holders - you may or may not be aware that there is now a Firearms Registry which went live on the 23rd of June this year. What this means is that if you're a licence holder you are now required to provide information about certain arms items you have in your possession. This registry will give licence holders more confidence when selling or purchasing firearms. The registry will let you know if you are dealing with a current licence holder and importantly if you're purchasing one if it is stolen.

You have until the 24th of June 2028 to get this done but I am encouraging everyone to get it done as soon as able. There are some activating circumstances which require you to do this quicker and they are also online. It is a relatively simple process, just go to firearmssafetyauthority.govt.nz and click on My Firearms. You then follow the prompts to register the arms you have. There is a list of what needs to be registered on the website. If you need any assistance around this, please pop in and I can help. There is no charge for this registry. Let's do our bit to support this.

It's great to see the new pump track is getting well used by a wide range of the community. I've even had a quiet blast around it myself, being careful not to do myself a mischief as I'm not getting any younger. I can see this as a real meeting point for all in the nicer months to come.

Impairment is my focus in relation to Road Policing for the next while. There is no excuse for getting behind the wheel of a motor vehicle if you are impaired. This could be either by alcohol or drugs. If you take that risk and run that gauntlet, then the buck stops with you. Too many lives are lost each year because of impaired driving, and one should not be so selfish to think they have the right to place other road users at risk because of their actions. Don't be that person.

A couple of occasions lately I have had reports of dogs rushing out of properties in an aggressive way towards walkers or cyclists passing by innocently. These have been reported to Dog Control at the Council. We know the devastating results that can occur in such instances so please be responsible and take care to ensure something like this can not happen.

I say this a bit and have had a couple of situations lately where people who have my cell number have rung (which is never an issue) but couldn't contact me for certain reasons. One of these situations was a prime example of calling 111. If I don't answer or reply relatively quickly it could be I'm away or not available. Please, if I don't answer or reply initially and the situation needs police attention, call 111 if urgent or 105 if not. If not urgent your details will be taken, and a message sent to me to follow up with you when able.

Until next time take care of each other and remember my door is always open for advice or just for a cuppa and a chat – the new heat pump is on in the station.

— Sr. Constable Aaron Smith

Portobello School

Matariki Breakfast

Portobello school celebrated Matariki with a Matariki breakfast on Friday 30th of June. Students presented their learning about the Matariki star cluster. We also named our new playground pendulum swing - Te Manahau – signifying exhilaration and enjoyment.

Bravery and 100% awards

The 100% and Bravery awards were presented at the final assembly of term two. Congratulations to Ethan who received the 100% award, and to Jordan who was presented with the Bravery award. Both well deserved boys, tino pai.

High visibility vests

Portobello School has a new supply of high visibility vests for our students. We have named these and given them to our tamariki. This will ensure they are seen on those dark mornings.

New students to Portobello School

We welcome two new students to the Junior Whānau. Liam Crowley-Thom and Blossom Demant started school. Welcome to Portobello School Liam and Blossom and to Blossom's parents, Sophie and Sam, we are looking forward to getting to know you.

Wearable Arts

Our main topic for term three is based around wearable arts. We are linking this with our cultures and will be working on creating pieces that reflect our cultural heritage. We have flags in the library and hui room reflecting as many cultures as we could gather from whānau. The topic involves many aspects of the curriculum and will culminate in a Wearable Arts show at the Coronation Hall on Friday 8th September from 1pm. All are welcome.

Our Tuesday working bees continue to be very busy fixing and improving things. One project is to make the fence between the Barn and the paddock tidier. Our thanks to Richard who has been a great help over the past few months. He leaves to help more at the Mens Shed in town.

We do get some interesting visitors and one recently was a descendant of the Weller Family. Matthew Weller visited from the UK and the Weller Brothers, who became Whalers in Otago, were part of his family. The photo shows Matthew beside the Weller medicine chest which is held at the Museum.

Joseph Weller (1766-1857) was one of the sons of William Weller (1728-1802), founder of the brewing dynasty, and Joseph, like his brothers John and William, initially became a brewer. However, he suffered from consumption (tuberculosis) and was advised to move to a warmer, coastal climate. Joseph married Mary Brooks in 1801 and his first two sons, Joseph Brooks Weller and George Weller were baptised in Amersham, but by 1807 when his first (surviving) daughter, Mary Brooks Weller, was baptised, he was living in Folkestone. His brothers, John Weller (1760-1843) and William Weller (1763-1843) bought out his share of the brewery.

Joseph's ill health continued and he was advised to go on a long sea voyage. His two elder sons, Joseph Brooks and George, made separate reconnaissance trips to Australia in the 1820s and after returning to England seem to have persuaded the whole family to emigrate there. Joseph Brooks and Edward went first in 1829 and were followed in 1830 by brother George, with his new wife Eliza Barwise, his father and his wife and George's two surviving sisters. Joseph had sold his estates in the UK and he took his money to Australia in sacks containing 12,000 sovereigns. Since 1817, a gold sovereign has weighed 7.988 g so the sacks would have been just under 100 kg and in 2017 the money would be worth a little over £800,000. On arrival in New South Wales, part of the money was invested in land but part in setting up a shipping and whaling business in Sydney which became very successful. A year later, in 1831, the younger sons Joseph Brooks and Edward set off in their whaler, the Lucy Ann, for New Zealand to set up a whaling business near what later developed into the city of Dunedin. They landed at what became known as Weller's Rock and became very successful, employing over eighty people, not just there but in six other whaling stations, and in farming and selling supplies to visiting ships.

We are open Sundays 12.30-3.30. For other times you can contact Warren on 0274885107 or Faye on 4780-739

STOP (Save The Otago Peninsula)

The 1,000 trees donated by 'Trees That Count' to mark the FIFA Women's World Cup using funding from Te Uru Rakau NZ Forest Service, have almost all been planted at the top of the Second Tributary in the Smiths Creek Catchment, together with a further 300 plus donated by Corrections and local residents.

Two weekend community working bees were advertised to encourage people to come and plant some of the FIFA trees. However most of the planting and the releasing (which is an essential component for high survival), is done at regular working bees, which meet at the end of Bacon Street in Turnbolls Bay (the next bay past Broad Bay) every Tuesday and Sunday at 9.30am. Any necessary tools are provided. We always welcome new volunteers for these.

While over 50% of the work on the Future Forest in Smiths Creek is done by the regular working bees, larger groups such as A'Rocha, the Polytechnic Horticulture students and businesses are the other contributors, and we can cope with a busload of up to 50 volunteers.

If you have a special birthday or anniversary coming up this year and would like to donate some trees to commemorate it (or invite your friends to contribute a tree), ask for information on how to do this.

Another Day In Paradise—from Olly's Pen

I just so appreciate looking out of my upstairs window at the harbour – at the many birds that congregate there feeding on the abundance of foods it offers up to them. At the dredge; boats, yachts and cargo ships pass in and out of it. And, if I'm lucky enough to see them, the odd seal, shark, orca or stingray that surges high enough above the water line in pursuit of some tasty morsel. And I think to myself, how lucky am I. Seeing the fish and the birds feeding the way they do tells me that the harbour water must be good enough to support an abundance of life – and that makes me feel good. I remember saying at the Mid-Winter Carnival how Matariki is a time when we humans are reminded about how important growing things is – our vegetables, plants and fruit. And how important it is for us to look after one another – our children, ourselves, our parents, our relations and our friends. After all, we are all involved in one another's growth in some way – through the mere fact that our thoughts and feelings travel throughout the atmosphere and our old cells drop off us wherever we go. Which means that we are all breathing in one another's cells every day. As for feelings and thoughts, they will have an effect on our moods without us being aware. Different communities and homes as well as businesses have different atmospheres – we've all felt that at different times. And what I've learned so far is this: if I want my children and grandchildren to have a happy and rewarding life, then it makes sense that I create and leave atmospheres which are positive, creative and full of happy vibes so when they pass through wherever I've been, they get affected in a good uplifting way. It's so easy to do. And being happy is free. As a matter of fact, all the great things in life are free, when you think about it. Like looking appreciatively out at the harbour waters, on a bright sunny day – how wonderful is that aye! Oh yes – it's so good to spend another day in paradise!

Quarantine Island/Kamau Taurua Community Inc.

Kia ora koutou,

We have welcomed Jon Clark, our current relieving Keeper (Resident Manager) until we are more able to advertise for a more permanent Keeper, as we continue work on upgrading the Keeper's Cottage and other necessary maintenance. Jon has a long and deep connection with the island, and spent many days as a young adult with his mother Pamela and father, Charles Clark, members of the St. Martin Island Community. Jon lived on the island from 1985-1986 and helped Rev. Dave Wilson (the first SMIC resident Keeper who lived on the island for 10 years) care for the animals, maintain fences and buildings, and welcome groups. Jon also assisted his father in replacing the piles and timbers on the jetty. Jon is very excited to be back and we are grateful to have him!

During the colder months of Matariki, continued rain has been especially good for the motu's native seedlings and our water tanks, ensuring our sheep have grass to eat and water to drink. There have been some stunning dawn, dusk and night skies over this time. The bush, shore and seabirds have continued to be busy keeping warm and fed, and the pūkeko youngsters and their parents seem to be here to stay!

July has been our quietest month for Lodge bookings and visitors on the motu with a reduction of day visitors and groups choosing to stay overnight in the Lodge enjoying some 'island time' in the colder winter months. However, students taking part in the NZ Marine Studies Centre residential programmes, Dunedin City Council executive team and Waitati School teachers held well-being workshops using the Lodge, and a couple of other groups enjoyed celebrating a birthday or a family/friends reunion. Musselburgh Church held a youth group retreat/camp and A.A.P.E.S (Animal Aquatic Plants Ecological Society) Otago students returned to enjoy a welcome break from study, connecting with one another, whilst helping us with native tree planting and weed control, exploring and kayaking! The Department of Conservation funded a two-night stay with local and regional DoC team members, and an archeology team, whilst undertaking a cemetery ground penetrating radar project. The results of the survey hope to provide us with information to help us better establish the cemetery's boundaries and help us to ensure that it is well looked after. A couple of our Community members were able to attend the day's mahi.

We've held a number of mahi volunteer days and our Welcome days have all been enjoyed by new visitors and regular volunteers/community members. Mahi has included planting and caring for seedlings, releasing, weed control, monitoring predator traps and tracking tunnels, leading groups, and improvements to the Keeper's cottage and other building maintenance. Thanks to all our volunteers and community members for their efforts on and off the island over the last few months. We also thank Janina Nakajima Castro, science communication postgraduate/masters student at the University of Otago, and a birder from the Philippines, who completed her internship with us this month. Janina has created a wonderful QI/KTC treasure hunt education resource for schools, and compiled many informative wildlife postings and advertised events on our Facebook page/group.

On our monthly Welcome day's, held on 24th of June & 29th of July, a number of newbies enjoyed a first time island visit. They learnt about the history of the island and the QI/KT Community, enjoyed a guided tour of the bush track and our biodiversity project, and helped with planting and releasing native seedlings. We also held our AGM in the Married Quarters building on the 23rd of July.

We still have a small number of copies left of the revised reprint of Lyndall Hancock's book Quarantine Island/Kamau Taurua (St Martin Island)- A Short History. If you are interested in buying your own copy at $35 each, please contact secretary.quarantineisland@gmail.com

We are grateful to The Sargood Bequest and Otago Peninsula Community Board for funding for jetty decking timber, Otago Regional Council ECOFund, and Rotary Club of Dunedin South for funds to help us to continue our regeneration project involving the wider community, Lottery Otago/Southland Community Fund for contributing to funds towards the Keepers salary, Rotary Club of Dunedin for funding towards a new boat motor, and Port-To-Port Cruises and Wildlife Tours, East Coast Charters and Otago Water Taxis & Tours who have provided boat transfers. Thanks also to Paul Clements for all his continued mahi and management of the Keepers cottage upgrade, to Patsy Mason, Hugh Forsyth and Brendan Penwarden for all their fundraising mahi, and to Adrienne Dearnley for her treasurer mahi.

Would you like to join our volunteer database? Complete our volunteer form here and read our volunteer information sheet here for some ideas of how you could help and what to expect.

If you'd like to visit or stay on the island as a family group, a group of friends, or for a retreat or workshop venue - see our website quarantineisland.org.nz for details.

You can also subscribe to our monthly e-newsletter to learn about island news, events and volunteer opportunities, or follow our Facebook page Quarantine Island Kamau Taurua (Quarantine Island) and/or Facebook Group QI/KT Community Group, or contact the island Keeper (Resident Manager) on 03-478-0874 or email quarantineisland@gmail.com.

If you haven't visited before, we host a Community Welcome Day on the last weekend of each month. Just a short boat ride from Back Beach, Port Chalmers or Portobello by arrangement. We organise boat transport. Details and registration forms for events are on our website or posted on our Facebook page.

There is something for everyone on Kamau Taurua/ Quarantine Island - from relaxing and recharging in solitude and peaceful surroundings, to learning about island history and ecology, as well as volunteering and experiencing what makes the island so special.

Mahi volunteer days in August/September—to be confirmed. Volunteer, weed control, planting and caring for native seedlings, and other mahi. Boat subsidies available for those helping with our biodiversity project.

Saturday 26th August 2023- Welcome Day

Saturday 30th September 2023- Welcome Day

Volunteer, relax or explore, or all three! Come for the day or stay overnight!

Otago Peninsula Biodiversity Group

Thank you to everyone who took part in our Spotlight on Possums event last month! There was only one backyard possum sighting on the peninsula, from the Cove to the Headland, which is largely thanks to the efforts of our wonderful volunteer trappers. We know there are still a few lurking about in non-residential hot-spots and they're on the move. Winter is our best time to try and get them—the autumn fruit is gone and the spring bounty has yet to arrive, so they're hungry. If you have a backyard trap, now is the time to set it and regularly check it. If you have a Trapinator and you notice the bait is disappearing, you likely have a rodent problem so please get in touch and we can help you sort it. For cage traps, try using pumpkin since our team has had great success with it.

Our goal is to be possum free over the whole Peninsula by September 2024. We've had a big possum mop-up from the town-end of the peninsula towards Portobello with great success at lowering numbers. Thank you to all the landowners who continue to be very supportive and helpful in allowing us to continue with the big goal of eradication. We would like to keep working with our community to achieve eradication and continue to benefit from increased native birdlife and healthy native vegetation.

Otakou Golf Club

Dear Golfers and Friends,

The July weather has not been kind to us down at Ōtākou. Our Sunday club days have been variously described as “on a day only fit for ducks” and “contending with driving wind and snow” and you, the reader (and some of us players too), might wonder why we do it. Could it be for the love of the game, for companionship, or the resuscitation at the 19th hole. I do not have a complete answer and can only suggest that you come down and give it a try yourself. Check us out at our facebook page, there is always the promise of better weather to come.

And mention of the 19th hole reminds me of why in this decimal age we play 18 holes for the game and not 10 or 20. Well the history goes back to 1858 at the home of golf, St Andrews, in Scotland when there was no uniformity and a course in those early days had what it considered appropriate for its location and terrain such that some courses had 7 or 13 and in the extreme case of Montrose, 25 holes. There was some debate about what constituted a round of the links to be considered a match. There was no agreement until a distinguished gentleman gave his opinion based on his experience. He allegedly said, “It has long been my custom to start out for a game with a full bottle of Scotch whisky in my bag – not for any reason except that the inclemency of our local climate makes it expedient for me to have a small medicinal nip on each tee. Naturally I find it pleasant to play golf so long as there is a drink left in the bottle. On the other hand it would be unhealthy for me to continue my game when the bottle is empty. I have found that one bottle will fill my glass just 18 times so it has become my custom to play 18 holes each afternoon, no more, no less”. There was no opposition to this logic and that is why it was agreed that golf courses should thereafter have 18 holes. I should add that we have adopted the 18 holes but the whisky practice is not mandatory at Ōtākou.

And it is not just golf that happens at Ōtākou links. Last month I advised you that Athletics Otago held their cross country cup on the perimeter of the course. There were more than 70 competitors of all age groups and their supporters - a busy, busy day. And they were very complimentary of the undulating course.

Similarly Disc Golf Dunedin will be holding a repeat of their Mid Winter Classic on the Ōtākou course on 19 August. Golf balls and frisbees do not mix well so we will need to close the course for that day again. This is part of a three match competition for them and they move on to Chisholm Park and Port Chalmers golf courses in subsequent months.

I wish you well in your quest for that perfect round,

Book Review

Vanda Symon is a Dunedin based crime, thriller, author. She has written a series of five books based on Sam Shepherd who starts the series with her policing in Southland, and eventual move to Dunedin as a Detective. Each book is enthralling because we can relate to the places. Vanda's most recent book 'Expectant' is based on a rather macabre murder down an alley off Moray Place. It is a good who dunnit, and is hard to put down as the plot thickens. An easy read for those who like a crime set in your own backyard.

The Portobello Public Library is open Thursdays and Sundays 11am - 1pm at the Portobello Hall.

Invasive Weeds Update from SWAT

It is three years since a small group of Peninsula residents decided to spend Friday mornings tackling pest plants. A grant from the Otago Peninsula Community Board allowed the group to get started and SWAT was formed. The name describes what we do, which is

Seek Weeds And Terminate

Our main target is banana passion fruit. The pink flowers or orange fruits may be very obvious on a roadside bank or hidden from view, tucked away in a gorse gully. One of our aims is to prevent this pest vine from spreading over to the ocean side of the Peninsula by dealing with banana passion fruit vines on Highcliff Road and around Hoopers Inlet. As far as we know banana passion fruit has not been found in the Sandymount Reserve, Boulder Beach or Highcliff areas. Once established, it would be impossible to eradicate from these more remote parts of the Peninsula.

SWAT would like to thank residents who have alerted us to pest plants and all those landowners who have allowed access for the SWAT team onto their properties to deal with problem vines. It is surprising just how many areas of the Peninsula we have tackled between Ōtākou and The Cove.

All up, 63 different sites!

If you would like advice or help controlling pest plants on your property, or find a plant that you think could be a problem weed, we would be keen to hear from you. Contact the team at SWATweeds@gmail.com

— Cheers from SWAT
